Information on product discontinuation

Dear Customers,

Herewith we would like to inform you about changes in our product range.
The articles of the EPIC® ULTRA H-B rectangular connector series will be discontinued and are no longer available for regular order.
Remaining quantities can be sold if stocks last.

As part of the ongoing development of our product portfolio, the existing EPIC® ULTRA series is being replaced by a new generation of rectangular connector housing. With the new EPIC® H-B EMC series, we have succeeded in combining enhanced corrosion protection with reliable EMC shielding in a modern and future-proof product platform.

The new housings are based on a standardized product platform within the EPIC® H-B family and offer you the following advantages:

- Enhanced corrosion protection for demanding operating conditions
- Integrated EMC shielding for interference-free signal and power transmission
- Advanced product platform with long-term availability
- Improved compatibility with industry-standard enclosures
- Optimized standardization within the EPIC® portfolio
- Simplified selection of accessories and mounting parts using standard components from the LAPP portfolio
- Future-proof and cost-effective solution for industrial applications

Article overview product discontinuations

Please note that, due to its standardized design, the new EPIC® H-B EMC series cannot be combined with the previous EPIC® ULTRA series. In particular, the covers and locking levers from the previous ULTRA series cannot be reused. We therefore recommend conducting a technical review before use. Stainless steel levers are still available for the new series. In addition, numerous standard components from the LAPP portfolio, such as suitable SKINTOP® cable glands, can be used. Of course, the successor products continue to meet the high standards of quality, reliability, and safety that you have come to expect from our EPIC® products.
