Product change EPIC® H-A 3 housing with compression screw

Dear customers, dear business partners,

We would like to inform you about changes in our EPIC® H-A 3 housing with compression screw. The change affects the item numbers listed below. The compression screw, sealing ring, and metal rings were previously factory-installed in the housing. In future, these will be enclosed separately in a polybag. In order to connect a suitable cable, the screw connection had to be dismantled by the customer anyway and the cut-in sealing ring had to be adjusted to the diameter of the cable. This saves the installer time and effort, as they can now take the necessary components directly from the enclosed bag.

The change is being made as part of a process optimization, which will enable us to continue offering the products at the same price in the future.

All approvals, technical and mechanical properties will of course remain unchanged, therefore, there is no disadvantage or restriction compared to the previously delivered articles.

During the transition phase, mixed deliveries may occur, but these will have no impact on the product. The transition will begin on 01. December 2025.

To simplify your goods receipt and quality control, please find enclosed documentation on the change:
